

Call of Applications to Master Program

International MSc in Rural Development (IMRD)

For Bachelors or Masters interested in an International joint degree in Integrated Rural Development and Agricultural Economics

- Become an expert in international visions on rural development and agricultural (food) economics
- Learn from specialists worldwide through an international career path
- Gain a competitive advantage on the job market with an international CV
- Acquire scientific, practical, language and cultural skills in an international environment

The IMRD 2-year International ERASMUS+ MSc program

- Is jointly offered by Ghent University (Belgium), Humboldt University of Berlin (Germany), Agrocampus Ouest (France), Slovak University of Agriculture Nitra (Slovakia) and Pisa University (Italy)
- in collaboration with Pretoria University (South Africa), University of Agricultural Sciences Bangalore (India), ESPOL (Ecuador), Can Tho University (Vietnam), Nanjing Agricultural University and China Agricultural University Beijing (China).
- is offering 3 Learning Paths:

IMRD
Study at one or a combination of the partners in Europe, India, South Africa, Ecuador, Vietnam or China

- Leads to a joint IMRD MSc degree

ATLANTIS
European and US students can combine this degree with a MSc in Agricultural Economics of the University of Arkansas (US)

- Leads to a double degree

EKAFFREE
European and South Korean students can combine this degree with a Master of Arts in Economics of Korea University or Seoul National University

- Leads to a double degree

The call for applications including scholarship for the academic year 2017/18 is open. Applications can be made until 31 May 2017 to Ghent University: www.imrd.ugent.be

